LEWIS ASKS $70,000,000 COAL LEVY

FEDERAL HELP PROMISED FOR HOME BUILDER

SUBSIDIES TO PUSH OUTPUT OF SCARCE MATERIALS

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The House and Senate finally approved today the spending of $400,000,000 to subsidize increased production of building materials as home builders reported many structures will be left half-built unless immediate action is taken by the government.

The House passed the legislation on a roll call vote of 298 to 71. Soon thereafter the Senate passed the compromise measure on a voice vote.

The subsidy program is part of veterans housing legislation designed to enable private enterprise to build 2,700,000 homes within the next two years.

Program Bogs Down

The contention that "tens of thousands" of needed homes will be left in partially complete condition unless Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt takes "immediate and positive" action, came from Joseph Meyerhoff, president of the National Association of Home Builders.

He made the statement to a conference of industry and government leaders here.

The emergency housing program, he said, "is today bogging down for the sole reason that building materials cannot be secured to finish partially completed homes," Meyerhoff said.

The legislation which finally cleared the House and Senate and went to the White House was an administration victory as the House originally had banned any subsidies for housing materials.

At first the administration had sought $600,000,000 in subsidies.

Price Ceilings Provided

Besides providing for incentive payments to get more lumber, bricks, and other building materials flowing to building sites, the legislation originated by Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) calls for:

An increase of $1,000,000,000 in government authority to insure home mortgage loans, thus allowing the government to assume that size risk in building homes for veterans.

Continues the priorities and allocation authority to December 31, 1947, so scarce materials can be directed to construction of low and medium priced homes.

Gives veterans preference in purchase or rental of new homes.

Puts price ceilings on new houses.

Empowers the housing expediter with broad authority to issue orders to other government agencies, including the OPA, on building materials prices.

Authorizes the expediter to halt or limit the export of lumber so long as it continues scarce in this country.

Holland Gets Set For Tulip Festival

Holland, Mich., May 12. (AP)—This community planned eagerly today for its first tulip festival since the war stopped bulb shipments from The Netherlands and interrupted an American tradition.

The festival opens Wednesday with a full program scheduled, including the street scrubbing ceremony, wooden shoe dances by girls in Dutch costume, roving musicians and a Dutch market.

The tulips, described as the "cleanest and best looking in many years," are expected to be in full bloom for the three-day celebration. One special planting of white tulips is in the form of a huge cross, memorial to Holland's war dead.

Group Of 58 Nazis To Die On Gallows

BY RICHARD A. O'REGAN

Dachau, May 13 (AP)— An American military court today sentenced 58 operators of the concentration camp at Mauthausen to die on the gallows for the torture and murder of thousands of imprisoned victims of Nazi persecution. Three other defendants received life sentences.

The 61, mostly German SS men, and the largest number to be tried as yet in a war crimes trial, were found guilty Saturday.

At the same time the army announced that 74 German SS men will go on trial in the same courtroom Thursday for the massacre of nearly 100 American soldiers at Malmedy in December, 1944, during the battle of the bulge. The defendants include Gen. Josef Dietrich, commander of the Sixth SS panzer army, and his chief of staff, Lt. Gen. Herman Priess.

One by one the U. S. court president summoned the 61 Mauthausan defendants to hear the sentences. To the 58 doomed to die the court intoned:

"The court, in closed session, two thirds of the members being present and concurring, sentence you to death by hanging at such time and place as a higher authority may direct."

August Eigruber, gauleiter of the upper Danube region and one-time Nazi dictator of upper Austria, received the sentence without display of emotion. Other defendants paled, and some had to be helped from the court room by guards.

Among the victims of Mauthausan was Associated Press Correspondent Joseph Morton, who was executed there after his capture is Deecember, 1944, while accompanying an Allied mission into Slovakia.

Witnesess at the trial said that Morton and 13 American and British officers captured with him underwent four days and nights of brutal interrogation before they were led into the camp crematorium and shot through the neck.

GAS FIRE RAGES AT WAUKON, IA.

Tanks Containing 66,000 Gallons Of High Test Feed Flames

Waukon, Ia., May 13. (AP)—A roaring fire fed from tanks containing 66,000 gallons of high test motor and aviation gasoline was extinguished late this afternoon after endangering for six hours the southern portion of Waukon, a city of 3,000 population.

A strong south wind coupled with the work of firemen from Waukon and four nearby towns prevented flames from spreading to residences and warehouses nearby. All were evacuated to prevent possible injuries in the event of explosions and bystanders were kept at a distance of two blocks.

A huge mushroom of fire, described by several witnesses as looking like the atomic bomb test pictures, spread over a large portion of this northeast Iowa town as one of six large bulk plant tanks in the fire area blew up. The blast made little noise.

The Cities Service Oil Co., service station, adjoining the bulk plant, and a warehouse containing drums of aviation gasoline were totally destroyed.

The fire started when a workman at the station operated by Ray Zoll threw a switch to load a truck. A spark was believed to have ignited gasoline fumes in the pump house, which soon was a mass of flames.

Hillsdale Coals Up, Normalcy Returns

Hillsdale, Mich., May 13 (AP)—Normalcy will return to Hillsdale Tuesday—thanks to a welcome shipment of coal today.

The board of public works permitted the city's factories and theaters, closed because of the coal shortage, to reopen. It estimated the shipment would give the local power plant enough fuel to operate for about 20 days.

Daughter Drowned In Bathtub, Mother Pleads Innocence

Detroit, May 13 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Berg, 32, of Dearborn, pleaded innocent to a first degree murder charge in drowning of her four-year-old daughter, Anita, on arraignment today before Circuit Judge Ira W. Wayne.

She is accused of drowning the child in a bathtub in her home on April 2. Mrs. Berg is being held without bond. No date has been set for her examination.

INDIAN AFFAIRS RUN INTO SNAG

British Cabinet Mission Faces Trouble In Plans For Independence

BY PRESTON GROVER

Simla, India, May 13 (AP)—Indian leaders waited today upon announcement by the British cabinet mission of its own plan for an independent India, amid predicitions the British proposals would encounter difficulties equal to those which caused complete breakdown of an eight-day conference with Hindu and Moslem leaders.

The cabinet mission still is required to accomplish the task assigned it by the British government—to help prepare machinery for framing an Indian constitution, and to set up an interim government which would function while the constitution is being formulated.

Conversations continued here on a minor scale. Mahandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Congress party, was expected to confer with the cabinet mission at the end of his regular Monday day of silence.

Breakdown of the conferences yesterday dealt a jolt to hopes for a quick transition from British control to self government. Both the Hindus and the Mosleum League representatives, however, held to their pledge not to issue statements until the formal papers of the conference are published within a few days.

Agents Of Gestapo Working In Spain, Document Charges

BY MAX HARRELSON

New York, May 13 (AP)—Franco Spain is "a Fascist regime geared for war and bent on aggression," the Spanish government-in-exile said today. It declared Spain was a haven for notorious gestapo agents and Nazi scientists working on atomic energy.

These charges are included in a 350-page document, consisting of a general introduction and 20 annexes, brought from Paris yesterday by Dr. Jose Giral, premier of the government-in-exile, for submission to the United Nations subcommittee investigating the Spanish question.

Giral said the document would be handed to Secretary-General Trygve Lie "within the next 24 hours" and that it would prove that the Franco regime "is and always has been a permanent threat to international peace and security."

Two-Day-Old Baby Left On Porch Of Mt. Clemens Home

Mt. Clemens, Mich., May 13 (AP)—Police checked nearby hospitals today in an attempt to learn the identity of a two-day-old baby girl found on a Mt. Clemens back porch.

St. Joseph's hospital authorities said the child apparently suffered no ill effects from a night's exposure. Under the baby was a piece of paper with a crudely-scrawled message:

"You refused to help once, so I hope you'll help me this time by seeing my baby has a good home."

A neighbor heard the child crying early today and investigated.

Hospital attendants said that if the mother is not found the child will be placed in the Michigan Children's Institute at Ann Arbor. Several offers of adoption already have been received.

SOVIETS WANT TRIESTE GIVEN TO YUGOSLAVS

FOUR-POWER PEACE CONFERENCE NEAR TO BREAK-UP

BY JOSEPH DYNAN

Paris, May 13 (AP)—Soviet sources predicted tonight the four power conference of foreign ministers would break up within a few days unless the western powers acceded to Russian demands on Trieste and North Africa.

These sources said the Russians would insist that Trieste be awarded to Yugoslavia. American officials were reported by responsible sources to be equally firm in contending that Italy should get the Adriatic port.

The Russians, the Soviet informants said, also would insist upon keeping Britain out of Italian North Africa. But British Foregn Secretary Ernest Bevin, just back from a quick trip to London, was reported fortified with the approval of British and Dominions ministers of his demands for a British trusteeship in Cirenaica.

Moscow Makes Concessions

The foreign ministers were reported hammering away again today on their efforts to reach agreement on terms for the Italian peace treaty.

Soviet officials, according to the Russian informants, feel they have made enough concessions, chiefly on the issues of reparations and colonies, in the discusions of Italy. They feel, these sources said, that it is time for Britain and the United States to give ground.

Soviet Foreign Vyacheslav M. Molotov last week abandoned Russian claims to trusteeship in Tripolitania, and offered to scale down his demand for Italian reparations.

U. S. Secrteary of State James F. Byrnes agreed with Molotov in supporting a French proposal on Italian colonies under which Rome would administer the areas under United Nations supervision, provided the colonies were given their independence after ten years.

Army Merges Nine Service Commands Into Six Armies

Washington, May 13 (AP)— The war department today announced a reorganization, effective June 11, which will eliminate the nine service commands and convert them to six armies.

In addition, greater autonomy will be given the army air forces.

The headquarters of the army service forces will be discontinued other branches of the war department.

General Jacob L. Devers, head of the army ground forces, will be placed in command of the six armies within the United States.

Objective of the reorganization is to reduce expense and improve the army at the lower levels, the war department said.

The changes will be made under authority of an executive order signed by President Truman this afternoon.

Acting on the recommendation of Secretary of War Patterson the president issued the order which authorizes the secretary of war to reassign the functions of the service of supply command of the army service forces.

British Cars Sold By Chicago Agency; It's All They Had

Chicago, May 13 (AP)—Seven British-made automobiles have been sold in Chicago during the last week, a car dealer said today, "because we had no other cars to sell, and our only purpose is to stay in business."

W. A. Gibbons, a south side dealer, said the British cars are costlier, smaller and slower than small American-made cars. Two models seat four passengers comfortably and travel 40 to 50 miles on a gallon of gasoline at speeds of 35 to 50 miles an hour, he said.

The larger, a 10 horsepower job, sells for $1,895, the smaller an eight sells for $1,745. Their tread is narrower and their weight is half that of popular American cars, Gibbons said.

University Student Admits 4 Robberies

Ann Arbor, May 13 (AP)—R. Grady Brown, 24 year old University of Michigan sophomore, pleaded guilty today before Circuit Judge James R. Breakey, Jr., to a charge of breaking and entering a campus restaurant four times.

He told Judge Breakey he had emptied the cash register of more than $250. Arrested two weeks ago, Brown was ordered held pending sentence.

House Extends Draft For 45 Days, Exempts Fathers, Teen-Agers

Washington, May 13 (AP)—With the draft law expiring at midnight tomorrow, the house tonight tossed the controversial issue back to the senate by amending stop-gap legislation extending the law to July 1.

The amendments were adopted on a roll-call vote, 213 to 154. The bill passed by a 280 to 84 margin.

Disregarding administration warnings that the action meant the death of selective service, the house approved these amendments to a stop-gap measure which the senate had passed last week extending the law unchanged for 45 days:

1. A ban against induction of fathers.

2. A prohibition against drafting 18 and 19-year-olds and a ban against drafting anyone over 30.

The senate has one day in which to act on the amendments. It previously had sidetracked separate house legislation containing these and other restrictions.

Both amendments were approved by a single roll-roll vote of 213 to 154, after having been adopted separately earlier. They were offered by Rep. Sheridan (D-Pa.)

The critical parliamentary situation threatening the very existence of selective service is caused by the fact the amended measure can be brought up in the senate tomorrow only by unanimous consent.

The senate is considering strike control legislation which cannot be laid aside if a single member objects, McCormack and Sparkman explained. A number of senators are known to be opposed to the draft extender.

Even as the house voted, reports reached Capitol Hill that President Truman is ready to issue an executive order preserving the machinery of selective service, presumably in the hope that some compromise reinstating the draft may be worked out eventually. While the president has this authority under his war powers, selective service officials pointed out, he cannot without congressional action order the continuance of inductions or the retention of reemployment rights guaranteed to veterans by the draft law. These die with the law.

A 165 to 97 vote rejected an amendment which would have given local draft boards final determination in deferring or inducting farm workers.

Before these votes were taken, the house defeated, 128 to 160, a move to substitute the one-year draft extension act which it had passed last month for the senate's emergency 45-day extension. The original house measure prohibited any future inductions of teen-agers and fathers and also would have banned all inductions for a five-month "holiday" to give recruiting a trial.

Word that the present selective service act expires at midnight tomorrow, instead of Wednesday as generally supposed, was given to the house by Chairman May D-Ky) of the military committee.

A selective service official explained that the act would expire "on May 15, which is one second after May 14." He added that if the law were allowed to lapse, conscientious objectors could not be detained in work camps after the deadline.

Changes adopted by the house would have to be approved by the senate tomorrow and the legislation sent to the White House for President Truman's signature by midnight to keep the act from expiring.

GOLDEN JUBILEE HANDED $33,000

Allocation For Detroit Celebration Opposed By Legislators

Lansing, May 13 (AP) — Michigan's "little legislature" today allocated $33,000 through the state tourist council to Detroit's automotive golden jubilee over the protests of legislators who contended the money should be put to other uses.

The Senate and House Finance Committees and presiding officers, meeting at Governor Kelly's call to consider financial emergencies, also made the following grants:

$175,000 to replace a warehouse at Camp Grayling provided that site is selected as a National Guard training center.

$117,000 to the Michigan Children's Institute, $17,000 in the current fiscal year and $100,000 in the next fiscal year.

$16,000 to the American Veterans of World War II (Amvets) to set up a service center for the organization's members.

Senator Charles S. Blondy, Detroit Democrat, Rep. Henry J. P. Graebner, Saginaw, Republican, and Rep Harry J. Phillips, Port Huron Republican, voted against allocating funds to the automotive celebration.

"I think part of this money should be earmarked to clean up the alleys of Detroit," Blondy declared. "I am surprised the mayor can't find money with which to clean up the alleys."

Lyon Must Stand Examination In Slot Machine Case

Lansing, May 13 (AP)—The former chief of the state police uniform division, Laurence A. Lyon, sought unsuccessfully to waive examination today on gambling conspiracy charges brought by the Ingham county grand jury.

Upon the insistence of Special Prosecutor Richard B. Foster, Lyon was ordered to stand examination May 15 with two others indicted by Judge Louis E. Coach, Dorr T. Feldman and Joseph Monte Franks.

He was released on $5,000 surety bond after his arraignment in circuit court.

Lyon, Feldman and Franks were indicted on charges of participating in a slot machine protection conspiracy.

Creator Of Vargas Girl Winner Of First Round With Esquire

Chicago, May 13 (AP)—Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe today ordered set aside the contract between Artist Alberto Vargas, creator of the Varga Girl, and Publisher David Smart of Esquire magazine, on the grounds Smart had withheld information from Vargas.

In his ruling, Judge Igoe asserted, "fairness should have been the rule guiding Mr. Smart when this contract was drawn and signed. Smart knew he was withholding information from Vargas to induce him to sign a contract, which if Vargas had understood he probably would not have signed."

The decision disposed of one part of the litigation leaving a suit for $200,000 damages against the magazine still pending.

KILLER TO GET SANITY HEARING

Muskegon Worker Held For Slaying Wife And Step-Daughter

Grant, Mich., May 13 (AP) — An immediate sanity hearing was ordered by the State Hospital Commission today for Charles Gilbert, 35-year-old Muskegon foundry worker charged in two warrants with the murder of his wife and step-daughter.

The commission appointed three physicians to examine Gilbert and make a report prior to his arraignment in Newaygo county circuit court Thursday.

Gilbert, who admitted in a signed statement to Prosecutor J. Donald Murphy that he bludgeoned his wife, Gladys, 26, and his four - year - old step - daughter, Karen Greenwald, with a car crank the night of April 19, waived examination before Justice George A. Decker today.

Unshaven and wearing the same blue work trousers and dark sweater he wore when state police and Muskegon officers arrested him at his trailer home Saturday afternoon, Gilbert stood quietly and displayed no emotion at the hearing. Afterwards he was ordered returned to jail without bond.

"We are going to hurry this matter along," Murphy said.

Meantime, Sheriff Robert D. Hart continued investigation to determine whether the woman and child were alive but unconscious when they were placed in shallow graves in the sand.

Minimum 75-Cent Wage Is Predicted

Washington, May 13 (AP)—Rep. Hook (D-Mich.) expressed confidence today that the House labor committee will support legislation to increase the legal minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour within two years.

He said in an interview he believes the committee will disapprove the 65-cent minimum set in a Senate-passed bill. The House committee will vote Wednesday.

Hook earlier told the House that a 65-cent minimum would do no more, because of higher living costs, than "maintain the purchasing power of workers at the 1938 level."

Strike Is Settled For Two Iron Mines

Ironwood, Mich., May 13. (AP)—A strike which had closed two iron mines of the Ogelby Norton company since Feb. 8 was settled today, union officials said, on the basis of a 18½ cents an hour wage increase.

Ramsay Wilson, United Steel Workers (CIO) international representative, said that more than 700 workers at the Montreal Mine, Montreal, Wis., and the Eureka mine at Ramsay, Mich., were affected.

Company officials announced the men would return to work Wednesday.

MALADY CLOSES TEXAS SCHOOLS

San Antonio And Corpus Christi Warned To Clean Up

Austin, Tex., May 13 (AP)—State Health Officer George W. Cox said today the so-called mystery malady sweeping San Antonio and Corpus Christi was no mystery, and that the outbreak "very likely" could be blamed an unsanitary conditions.

He diagnosed the disease as either poliomyelitis or encephalitis, and warned the cities affected to clean up.

Four fatalities have resulted from the 15 cases of the malady reported in San Antonio. One person was reported in critical condition today in Corpus Christi, where four cases were reported. In Amarillo, Jerry Hall Owen, 7, died last night of polio, the first victim there.

Nueces county, in which Corpus Christi is located, ordered the closing of schools, churches, theaters, night clubs, parks, playgrounds and swimming pools for two weeks, and prohibited public gatherings of more than five persons. Schools in San Antonio were closed also.

Highways entering Nueces county were ordered patrolled, and no person under 21 is permitted to enter unless he is prepared to isolate himself at home for two weeks.

City Health Officer Dr. Charles F. Cron ordered all through-passing buses halted and sprayed. No passengers under 21 except residents of Rockport were permitted to stop, and incoming residents were put under two-week quarantines.

BACK HOLIDAY PAY GRANTED BY OPERATORS

PAYROLL RAKEOFF IS DEMANDED FOR WELFARE FUND

Washington, May 13. (AP)—John L. Lewis today demanded of the nation's soft coal operators a seven per cent levy on their gross payroll to create a health and welfare fund.

At the average annual wage of $2,500, the gross payroll for the 400,000 bituminous miners would total $1,000,000,000. Thus the payroll levy would amount to $70,000,000 a year.

Lewis acted soon after winning the initial round of the long struggle. The operators bowed to his demand for $3,000,000 in holiday pay he contended was due.

Union Wants Control

Edward F. McGrady, special government conciliator, made public Lewis' demand for the payroll levy and said negotiations today and tomorrow would be devoted to the welfare fund and safety proposals.

Operators who declined to be named said unofficially the levy would add 14 cents a ton to the cost of coal at the mines.

Government Conciliator Paul W. Fuller said that Lewis' payroll tax demand called for administration "neither joint nor public." This was taken to mean that Lewis was sticking to his original demand for exclusive union control over the funds.

Some Miners Return

The first break in the long-stalemated negotiations came as many of 400,000 bituminous miners affiliated with the United Mine Workers re-entered the pits for the first time since April 1, under a two-weeks' truce.

However, 76,000 in Pennsylvania and thousands more in Kentucky, Oklahoma and Arkansas still remained idle.

The operators, in agreeing to the $3,000,000 payment, stressed that they were not recognizing any merit in the Lewis demand, or establishing any precedent. Lewis had contended the money was due under last year's contract, while the operators argued they were relieved of paying it by a presidential order terminating wartime holiday wage rules.

New Contract Pushed

The operators' concession opened the way to a discussion of the terms of the new contract which President Truman wants by Wednesday. But it brought the negotiators squarely up to Lewis' demand for a health and welfare fund, his primary proposal and the one on which the discussions had been deadlocked even before the holiday pay was brought up.

Lewis had firmly refused to resume discussions on the new contract unless the payments were made. He had rejected a proposal of the operators to submit the dispute to arbitration.

"In view of the payment, the operators said they expect "real negotiations." They called upon the union "to proceed immediately to negotiate a contract."

There was no immediate reaction either from the miners or from government leaders to the holiday pay concession. But earlier in the day President Truman discussed coal with congressional leaders during their regular weekly conference.

Lewis Is Blasted As Solons Study Strike Curb Bill

Washington, May 13 (AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va.) today demanded that Congress prevent John L. Lewis from "holding this country up at the point of a gun to get $60,000,000" in royalties, while Senator Murray (D-Mont.) insisted that "you can't settle the coal strike by legislation."

Thus the Senate opened debate on strike control measures in accordance with an agreement reached Friday. Some blasted away at Lewis or at the administration, others counselled moderation—but there was no indication of any action immediately.

Byrd urged adoption of an amendment he has offered to the Senate labor committee's substitute for the House-approved Case bill. It would forbid any payments by an employer to a representative of his employes.

NATIONAL DEBT GETTING BIGGER

Delta County's Portion Is Estimated At $63,000,000

Washington, D. C. (WNS) — Delta county's share of the national debt amounts to $63,000,000 in round figures, Representative Robert F. Jones, Ohio Republican and member of the House appropriations committee, said today.

According to the treasury department's statement, the gross public debt amounted to $273,398,463,633.78, without interest on April 30 of this year.

Representative Jones said he had determined Delta county's share of the national debt on the basis of actual real wealth production potential rather than on a straight per capita basis. He used his method of determination, he explained, because it represents the share of the debt which Delta county taxpayers actually will meet, without interest.

On a percapita basis, he pointed out, Delta county's share of the debt would be $56,000,000. This, however, is not a true picture, he said, because not all of Allen county's residents pay national income taxes and federal indirect and excise taxes fluctuate in direct proportion to local annual income.

What this debt means locally was highlighter by Congressman Jones in the following examples:

It amounts to more than the six year volume of retail sales, based upon a normal, prosperous non-war year.

It amount to the dollar value of manufactured products in Delta county for nearly seven years, based upon a normal, prosperous non-war year. It amounts to the entire gross farm income for 63 normal, non-war years, in Delta county.

If Delta county residents could find some means of living on their reserves, it would require all income payments received for 20 months, on the basis of 1946 expected earnings.

"When we realize what the tremendous national debt means in our own immediate community, it staggers the imagination," Representative Jones said. "It brings home the fact that we must operate our national government on a balanced budget and pay off this debt as quickly as possible, for everyone has some share in it. Even the man who is required to pay no income tax whatever, is bearing the burden, for the price of every commodity and every service is increased because of this debt; taxes are passed on to the ultimate consumer, and even though a consumer doesn't realize it, and even though the process is said to be 'painless', every one who buys goods and services is bearing a portion of this debt. Of course not all of us is paying or will pay the per capita average of $2,000 each on this debt; some will pay more and some will pay less, but all will pay something in the long run."

Allies To Destroy Nazi Memorials And Fascist Literature

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, May 13. (AP)—The Allied control authority today ordered the destruction of German military and Nazi memorials and masses of Fascist and militaristic literature.

The order on literature, passed by the authority's coordinating committee, provided for a purge "to eradicate in all forms Fascist, militarist and anti-democratic ideas in Germany through confiscation and destruction of Nazi literature and other media of propaganda."

An American public relations officer gave this advance information on details of the order, which will be published May 20:

"Owners of circulating libraries, bookshops and publishing houses, all former state and municipal libraries and heads of all universities and schools must hand over to the military commandants all Nazi and military propaganda in their possession.

It was reported that this measure, warmly debated by the coordinating committee and criticized by some as "akin to the Nazi book burning," was sponsored by the Russians.

Two Wives And One Baby Mix Romance For Wakefield Man

Detroit, May 12 (AP) — The prosecutor's office stepped in today in an effort to help 26-year-old Earl Hajala straighten out two romances.

Policewomen said Hajala, who served overseas as an Army Air Forces truck driver, told of getting "all mixed up" when he met Betty Stenstrom, drug store counter worker.

The result was that he married Betty though he was still the husband of Lempi Hajala, who had come to Detroit with him from Wakefield, Mich., in 1942.

While Hajala was overseas, Betty gave birth to a son. When he came back he was "more mixed up than ever," as Policewoman Isobel Herrick told his story.

Recently, as he stood in a movie lineup, he was tapped on the shoulder. Turning, he looked into the eyes of Lempi.

"I knew right then it was she whom I really loved," he said.

The prosecutor's office asked a warrant charging Hajala with marrying one woman while still wedded to another.

New Instrument Will Help Deaf

New York—Deaf people will be able to carry on a telephone conversation with a new instrument demonstrated to the Acoustical Society of America here today. It is called a sound spectrograph and translates any sound into a visual pattern. With a little training, deaf persons can learn to read the patterns and literally see what the other party has to say.

Drs. W. Koenig, H. K. Dunn, and L. Y. Lacy of the Bell Telephone Laboratories, inventors of the spectrograph, explained that the new instrument would be used first for the rapid and accurate analysis of sound. It is a wave analyzer that produces a permanent visual record of the sound's energy distribution in both frequency and time.

FEAR PELLAGRA IN DANUBE AREA

Heavy Consumption Of Corn May Cause Disease

Washington—A new nutritional worry on top of all the food shortages appears in FAO plans for feeding the world next year. The worry is that pellagra, hard times disease of our own southern states, may strike the population of the Danube basin.

FAO estimates that continental Europe outside the USSR will in 1946-1947 produce enough food to supply about 2100 calories daily per person. These estimates, however, are based on three conditions, including that in the Danube basin humans consume much more maize, or corn, than before the war.

Pellagra has always occurred in regions where the staple cereal is corn or maize, instead of wheat or rice. At one time it was thought there was something in maize that caused pellagra. Now it appears that it is a lack of something in corn, specifically the amino acid, tryptophane, that causes the pellagra in persons relying on corn for their staple food.

Pellagra, as was discovered some years ago, can be both cured and prevented by a vitamin, called niacin or nicotinic acid. People in the Danube basin can eat more maize, to help the world food situation, and still escape pellagra if they get additional amounts of this vitamin. The vitamin could be added to their bread and other foods made from corn, as we now add it to our bread made from wheat. Medical and health authorities, knowing the danger, can be on the alert to detect early signs of pellagra and give the necessary vitamin to cure it.

Picketing Of Home By UAW-CIO Halted By Detroit Police

Detroit, May 13 (AP)—A second demonstration by UAW-CIO pickets at the home of an official of the strike-bound Detroit Steel Products company was stopped by police today.

The pickets, bearing signs and carrying on American flag and a union banner, appeared at the home of Edgar R. Ailes where 62 unionists were arrested last week on charges of disturbing the peace. Ailes, who signed the complaint against them, said it was a test whether a "man's home is really his castle."

When a police riot squad under Senior Inspector Ezra Johnson arrived only Paul Silver, president of Local 251, UAW-CIO, was on duty. The others, Silver said, had "gone to lunch."

Silver, who also was arrested last week, was again taken into custody but later released with a warning. He was defiant and promised police that "we'll be back."

Meantime, the Detroit city council, unaware of today's renewed activity, approved a resolution praising the police department for stopping picketing at Ailes' home last week.

The pickets, employes of Detroit Steel, said they were protesting against Ailes' absence at union-company negotiations. Ailes has said that he is not a member of the company's negotiating committee. The plant has been closed in a dispute over production standards.

Wylie, McNabb Both At Road Commission Meet

Although not voting at yesterday's meeting of the Delta county road commission, Marcus McNabb, ousted road commissioner who is contesting the action of the county board of supervisors which brought about his removal, took part in discussions and sharply criticized motions made by Henry Wylie, Escanaba high school teacher, who was recently appointed by the county board to succeed McNabb.

The meeting of the county road commission in the office of the garage at Wells opened at 10 a. m. yesterday and continued to 12:50.

Minutes of the meeting were kept by County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlin who said that he was recording the proceedings during the period of dispute between the county board and McNabb. Previously J. T. Sharpensteen, county road engineer, kept minutes of road commission proceedings as a deputy clerk.

Proceedings of the regular meeting of the commission were without untoward incident, except for the presence of McNabb, until Commissioner Wylie made a motion to have the engineer confer with employers in the county, and afterward with the union of county road commission employes Commissioner August Larson of Rock, chairman of the commission, said that such a plan was out of order and that the commission would settle its own disputes. There was no support to Commissioner Wylie's motion.

Commissioner Wylie moved that eight Delta county World War II veterans, who were discharged or left the employment of the county road commission, be offered their jobs in reinstatement as ordered by the county board of supervisors. Wylie wanted this done without discharging any of the present employes. There was no support to the motion.

On a motion to purchase a 10,000 gallon carload of asphalt, made by Wylie, support was received from Commissioner Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone, third member of the commission. Wylie offered support on other motions in connection with county road commission business.

At its meeting the commission ordered the purchase of a new scraper, a new mowing machine, and will advertise for bids for the purchase of 15 new trucks. The commission also heard a petition from a delegation headed by Gust Peterson of Ford River for the improvement of a county road in that township and will have the engineer investigate and report at the next meeting.

Les Cheneaux Lodge Destroyed By Fire

Sault Ste. Marie—Fire last night destroyed Les Cheneaux Lodge, Inc., formerly the Pennsylvania Hotel, at Cedarville at a loss estimated at $20,000.

A neighboring cottage was also destroyed but Spring Lodge, 700 or 800 feet away, was untouched. Burning shingles from the hot blaze of the Lodge, flew as far as the Snows Hotel, a quarter of a mile away.

It was built in 1887 by one of Cedarville's early settlers, William A. Patrick. It was the oldest hotel in the Les Cheneaux. Recently it was sold to a group of Sault and Detroit men, including Hugh Shore, who was manager of the Murray Hill at the time it burned over a year ago. The previous owner was J. W. Graus who resides near the hotel.

All the people of Wynne, Ark., declared a holiday in April, 1911, and turned out enmasse to build a road seven miles long.

NEED BUDGETS FOR TAX RATES

County Tax Allocation Commission Holds First Meeting

The Delta county tax allocation commission yesterday reelected C. P. Titus, county school commissioner, chairman of the commission and prepared to have the county, townships and school districts submit budgets for 1946. The tax millage rates will be allocated on the basis of budgetary needs.

It is the responsibility of the tax allocation commission to establish tax rates for the several governmental units under the 15-mill tax limitation law. Yesterday's meeting was an organization session held in the court house.

The commission is composed of the same members as last year—Titus, Helmer Skogquist, Gladstone; Gust Peterson of Escanaba; R. C. Pryal, county treasurer; Supervisor Harold Gustafson, Ensign, chairman of the county board's finance committee; Supervisor Peter N. Logan of Escanaba. County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen is clerk of the commission.

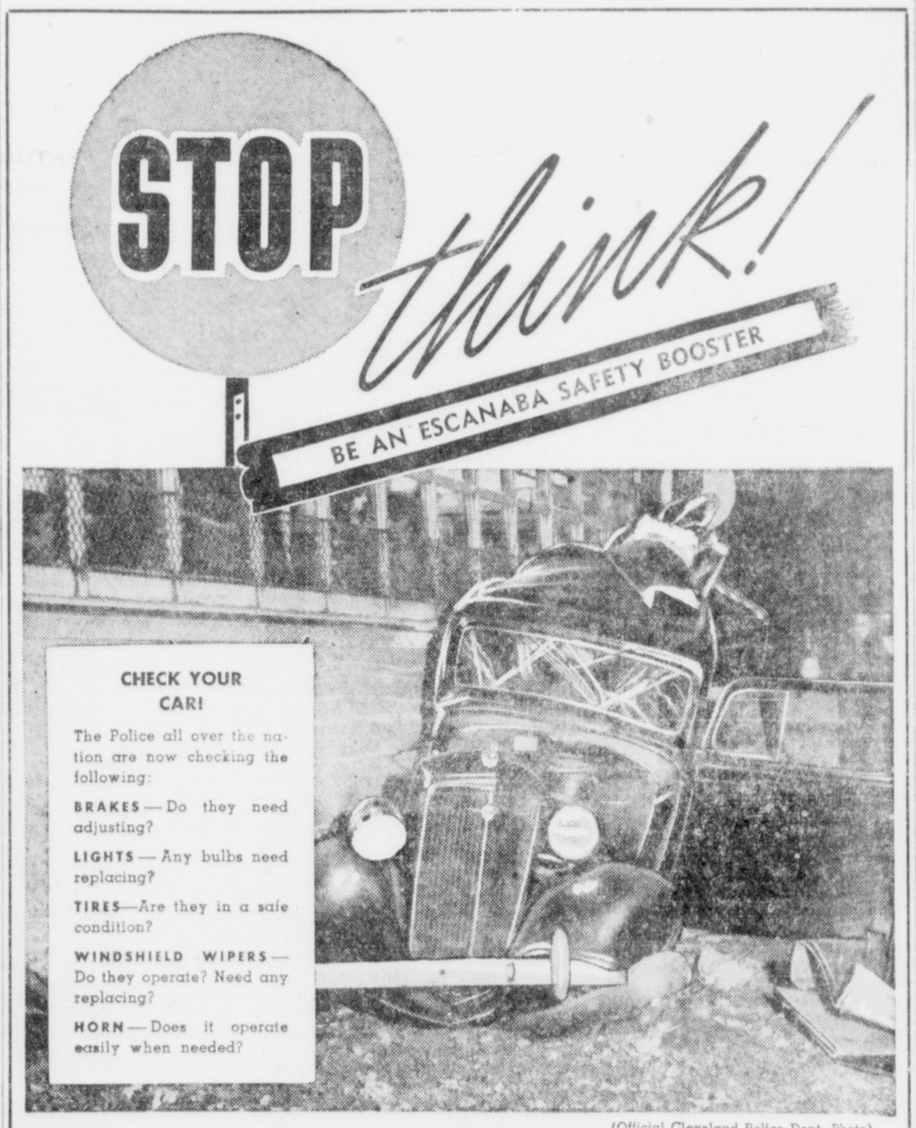

New budget blanks for use by the schools and the townships and the county have been prepared and will be mailed by the clerk These are to be returned to the commission by May 20. The commission will meet May 21, following a meeting of the county finance committee, when a tentative budget for the county will be worked out.

Annually there has been considerable controversy over the question of tax allocation between the county and the schools. With valuations at a higher figure this year, it is possible the work of allocation may be easier than in former years.

The Klan Revives

FIERY crosses have reappeared of late on Stone Mountain in Georgia, heralding the revival of the Ku Klux Klan in the South. Let's hope the hooded organization stays down South, or better yet that some way is found soon to force it out of existence.

The Ku Klux Klan appears to nurture itself on the prejudices and dissatisfactions that follow war in this country. It had its origin in the night riders who aroused fear in the hearts of the Negroes, who were emancipated from pre-Civil war slavery. After World War I, the Klan again reared its hooded head in the South and spread throughout the United States, mulcting initiation fees and membership dues from the gullible persons, who either disliked or feared Jews, Catholics and Negroes.

The Klan tried to advance as far north as Escanaba, only to find the cool climate uncongenial. What happened in this community, where people of different nationalities and creeds have always gotten along well as good Americans, never was published in the newspapers at that time. Perhaps, it can be told now. It was simply that a group of leading citizens of various religious denominations met with the Klan organizers and politely told them there was no need for their organization in Escanaba.

There was no threat of force. The organizers simply were shown that this was no fertile field for intolerance and prejudice, and that their activities would be exposed by publicity if they did not leave the city. The power of the Ku Klux Klan lies in secrecy and fear. Like every form of intolerance, it must be fought out in the open.

Return to Rationing?

CHESTER BOWLES, stabilization director, plans to recommend a return to food rationing this summer unless some other way can be found to meet America's famine relief commitments abroad.

Coinciding with this announcement is the arrival of Herbert Morrison, British statesman, to this country for the purpose of urging President Truman to ration meats and fats in the United States.

In view of the tremendous black market that has developed in meats and fats, the return to food rationing would be ineffective without first destroying the illegal traffic. There just are not enough meats and fats available through legal channels now to warrant an effective rationing program.

Moreover, the cause of rationing, even if it can be proved to be desirable action, is further harmed by the pressure being exerted in this country from the British government. The American people naturally resent such interference in domestic problems from foreign sources.

The United States, however, does have definite obligations, both moral and contractual, to the starving people of Europe and other foreign lands. Thus far we have failed rather miserably to fulfill those obligations.

Adequate provisions should be taken to send abroad all of the food that we have promised to famine stricken nations. If rationing will do the job and if it can be shown that rationing can be made to work effectively, then it is a decision that the American people will gladly make voluntarily. This proof is not yet available.

No. 1 Industry

TUMBERING now outranks the mining industry in payroll in Houghton county, which for the last century has been regarded as the heart of the Michigan Copper Country.

But Houghton county lumbering will be reduced to only a shadow of its present self if the current heavy cutting and shipping of timber to out-of-state paper mills and wood plants continues. This is the warning sounded by Prof. Bert Noblet and Dr. Hereford Garland of the Michigan Tech forestry school at Houghton, who propose a survey to promote the greater utilization of the tree in the county where it is grown and cut.

They point out that over 4800 persons are employed in Houghton county's wood industries, which have a total payroll of $620,000 a month, as compared to 3400 workers and $480,000 payroll in the mines.

The Michigan Tech foresters are urging that more wood working plants be established in Houghton county so that there will be a greater return from the tree where it is grown. Their program calls for the utilization of sawdust and other wastes, the manufacture of toys, plastics and other articles. The ideas are good, but the major problem is the interesting of capital in such new enterprises. Delta and other counties in the Upper Peninsula would derive a greater employment from their forests if most of the end products of the tree were produced in this area. It's a job for the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, chamber of commerce and other civic agencies interested in the economic development of their communities.

A Challenge for Peace

THE latest U. S. Army casualty report for World War II reveals 229,238 battle deaths and the total number of casualties of all types, including wounded, injured, captured and missing at 948,418. These figures are exclusively Army casualties and do not included American losses in the Navy, Marines and Coast Guards, nor in the Merchant Marine.

Moreover, they do not include casualties not directly connected with battles, such as training accidents, domestic plane crashes, traffic deaths and illness not resulting from battle action. Non-battle casualties also were extremely high and, of coursel, are a part of the cost of war.

These stark figures constitute the greatest challenge to the American people to work vigorously for world peace in the future. As great and appalling as these casualty figures are for World War II, we know that they would be puny in comparison of the casualty toll of the next war in this age of atomic bombs and robot-controlled rockets.

Other Editorial Comments

NOVEL AS A PULPIT
(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

The controversy over whether a novel should instruct or please has been stirred afresh by W. Somerset Maugham, the British writer. Although Mr. Maugham concedes that "we novelists are natural propagandists," he believes that readers should accept with reserve an author's views on the problems of the day when presented in the guise of fiction.

"I have never pretended to be anything but a story teller," Mr. Maugham said in an address on the occasion of his presentation to the Library of Congress of the autographed manuscript of his novel, "Of Human Bondage."

"But, as you know, story telling just for the sake of the story is not an activity that is in favor with the intelligentsia. It is looked upon as a debased form of art. That seems strange to me, since the desire to listen to stories appears to be as deeply rooted in the human animal as the sense of property.

"It is very nice to think that we can instruct our fellow men and by our wisdom improve their lot. But for my part I think it is an abuse to use the novel as a pulpit or as a platform, and I think readers are solely misguided when they suppose they can by reading acquire knowledge without trouble . . . If readers wish to inform themselves of the pressing problems of the day they will do better to read, not novels, but the books that specifically deal with them."

There is no clue to be found in book sales as to the public's reaction to this point of view. There is an avalanche of fiction coming from the presses and the readers buy both the pure story and the "instructive" novel with gusto.

In these golden days of book publishing there is room in the market for both the instructive novel and the pure story. No gifted writer need starve in a garret because he confines himself to the narrative and is frowned upon by the "intelligentsia."

WHAT PRICE GOOD WATER?
(Marquette Mining Journal)

Marquette's water consumers may have their troubles but they can look to the future when completion of the sewage disposal plant and other costly projects will make possible relocation of the intake or some other project to give the city a supply of water free of taste and odor.

The cost of such a project cannot be estimated at this time. Perhaps it will cost a half a million dollars. Perhaps more, but the time will come when the taxpayers of the city will agree to underwrite the cost of obtaining the full value of the finest body of fresh water in the world.

Marquette's problem is similar to that of many other cities, but when the money can be made available the solution will be much simpler. Philadelphia offers an example of a nearly hopeless situation. Like Marquette, the city draws its water from a heavily contaminated source. It is chemically treated to make it safe to drink, but it retains an objectionable taste and odor, which dissatifies all customers.

It has been determined that Philadelphia can get rid of taste and odor in water by building a dam 75 miles up the Delaware river, at a cost of $243,000,000. This would double water bills. Marquette can shave this figure by at least $242,250,000.

The bare midriff is expected to be popular with the girls this summer. Mosquitoes please don't note!

Take My Word For it . . Frank Colby

AGAIN "KILOMETER"
(Scrapbook Item)

Q. My English class loves your assistant, Dr. Shrdlu. Will you please ask him to set us straight on the pronunciation of kilometer, giving us the whys and wherefores?—Mrs. D. M.

Answer: Sorry, old Doc. S. is on a lecture tour. His subject: "Phlabbergastology of Vedic Sanskrit as Adumbrated in Kalidasa's Sakuntala." He'll publish it later in five volumes with illustrations by Rube Goldberg.

Meanwhile, here are the reasons why kilometer is correctly pronounced KILL'-oh-MEE-ter (and not "kill-OM-eter"):

There are two "meter's" in English: (1) an instrument for measuring; (2) a measure of length, 39.37 inches in the United States.

Meter is used as a suffix to form two groups of words: (1) words designating instruments for measuring; (2) words designating units of measure; such as:

Instruments	Units of Measure
altimeter	centimeter
barometer	decameter
chronometer	decimeter
hydrometer	hectometer
speedometer	millimeter
thermometer	kilometer

Now we see that all left-hand or instrument words are accented on the second syllable only, as: speed-OM-eter. The words in the righthand or unit of measure group are accented on the first and third syllables, as: MIL'li-ME-ter.

Now it is plain that kilometer, as a unit of measure, must obey the law which governs the accent of the right-hand words: KILL'oh-MEE-ter.

To show how inflexible the rule is, let is consider the word micrometer. It has two meanings and two pronunciations: (1) an instrument for measuring small distances pronounced: my KROM-eter; (2) a unit of measure, one-millionth of a meter, pronounced: MY'kroe-Mee-ter.

There is no such instrument as a kilometer ("kill-OM-eter"). A kilometer is the European equivalent to the mile. It measures nearly five-eights of our mile of 5,280 feet. Be sure to say: KILL'oh-MEE-ter.

World Events Analyzed

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Fifty million dollars' worth of air navigation and traffic control services which private and commercial airplanes get for free from the federal government are now under exmination to see if they couldn't be charged for. Uncle Sam is at last interested in getting out of the wide red yonder in this one respect, at least.

When the Department of Commerce Appropriation Bill for next year was up before the House, Congressman Louis C. Rabaut of Michigan suggested that maybe it was about time some of this flying expense be taken off the taxpayers. Just to show it wasn't fooling on this economy talk, the Appropriations Committee did slice 11 million dollars off the Civil Aeronautics Administration funds, cutting them from 74 to 63 million dollars.

The big items in this appropriation are 32 million dollars for maintenance of existing aids to air navigation along 40,000 miles of established U. S. airlanes, 18 million for building new navigation aids, six million for enforcing air safety regulations, and four million for administration.

The idea of trying to get some of this money back from the people who benefit from the services most is merely an indication that air transport has grown up and that the airplane is here to stay.

—AID IS NOT NEW—

When railroads were an infant industry, the government encouraged the building of transcontinental lines by grants of land along rights-of-way, so as to promote traffic to keep the roads going.

Aids to ocean commerce—harbor improcement and the lighthouse service—are still maintained by public money. On inland waterways, the federal government has spent over three billion dollars to keep the channels clear and to mark them.

The advent of the automobile has seen tremendous expenditures by federal, state, and local governments for public roads, a part of which comes back in the form of gasoline and auto taxes.

Similarly, when aviation was an infant industry the federal government rightly assumed responsibility for giving it every assistance. The weather reporting service was expanded, and air routes were marked for night flying.

Cities built airports to invite air traffic. But as transport aircraft have become bigger, runways have had to be lengthened. The old Ford tri-motor took a 2500-foot runway, but today's four-engined transports require over a mile of concrete up to three feet thick to take the impact of 50-ton planes and loads.

Charges are made for landings, but because of these additional expenses there is need for standardization of charges. And the U. S. government has just stepped in with a 500-million-dollar appropriation to build more airports.

—AIRLINES NOW BIG BUSINESS—

An argument can be made that the government owes the traveling and shipping public all this service as a contribution to increased air commerce and national prosperity. Also, the airlines can argue that they pay taxes and therefore contribute to maintenance of airports and air navigation facilities. But 20 U. S. commercial airlines last year showed a gross operating revenue of 214 million dollars and net profits of 34 million dollars. They're in business.

The job of studying what services the federal government could charge for and what the charges might be has been turned over to a group headed by Al Hand, director of plans and performance for the Civil Aeronautics Authority. His preliminary investigation has shown that charges might be assessed for air traffic control on routes and at airports, radio communication to fields, and control of instrument landings in bad weather.

A second service for which the government might charge is safety regulation and licensing of planes and pilots, both of which are now free. Though people who get auto drivers' licenses have to pay for them, aircraft pilots get their licenses without charge. Checking safety specifications for aircraft, flight-testing them, and certifying new planes as safe for travel are also now done by government inspectors without charge.

A new schedule of fees for all such services might help take the government out of the red, but the airlines may be expected to fight it.

Remember the Old Fable?

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

MERRY MONTH OF MAY—Traditionally the month of May is supposed to be a an airy affair of bright sun and warming earth, with folks grabbing the nearest table scarf and doing a rhumba through the greening woods, picking May flowers.

Dunathan

The weather being what it has been, they had better wear their snow suits if they intend to gambol outdoors. And besides, there is the utmost confusion over what constitutes a May flower.

One despicable character says May flowers are the hepaticas, which leaves the majority of us who do not know a hepatica from an anemone, as confused as we were before. Others say the May flower is the arbutus, and one unromantic soul even nominated the cowslip for this honor as the flower of May. If you follow his tip, better pull your rubber boots on over the bottoms of your snow suit legs—cowslips grow in the swampiest places.

THE CARELESS MONTH—Although it was not our intention, the above leaves you in a snow suit and rubber boots, knee deep in swamp water. That is not the spirit of May, as typified in song and story and picture. You should have a garland of flowers in your hair, and be poised a tip-toe to welcome burgeoning spring.

Perhaps our arches have fallen and our imagination is suffering from collapse—but do you see anything to become excited about in this merry month of May?

The only creatures who seem to be enjoying this month are the birds who came north too soon and are making the best of it in who are pracitising in preparation a spirit of bravado, and the ants for a bite out of your sandwich on picnics next summer. There are also the mosquitoes, who are busy these days sharpening their teeth while they wait for you to come out in nothing more than a diaphonous scarf, and the May flies—those squashy bugs who come battily flying into lighted store windows and around street lights. Now that May is in, they will soon be out.

ROMAN HOLIDAY—Just when all this foolishness started, no one is prepared to say. Perhaps it was some Neanderthal lass who threw the goat skin off her hairy shoulders after a winter of constant use and posed by the river bank. The water was too cold for her to go in swimming, so she just stood there dunking a toe and screaming. It was completely mad and exciting and altogether caused quite a bit of comment among the cave dwellers.

The Romans, some millions of years later, had extended this lunacy into a six-day festival called the Floalia, or Floral Games. This was to honor a goddess called Maia, daughter of Atlas and mother of Mercury—by Jupiter.

BALL OF FIRE — The pre-Christian Celts, more intent on keeping warm than picking flowers or honoring the daughter of Atlas, built big bonfires and danced around them at night during the month of May. At that time John L. Lewis had not yet organized the fuel cutters into Local 1146 nor was there a shortage of stoker coal.

GOING A-MAYING — During the Middle Ages the Kings and Queens—and probably the Jacks and Deuces—got up about sunrise to "go a-Maying". They traipsed out into the woods grabbing wildflowers and branches of flowering shrubs and came back to decorate the town. It must have looked like a huge picnic party from the city in a farmer's woodlot, but it had one additional compensation. Once back in town the "fairest maid" was crowned queen of the May and stood around looking beautiful for the photographers from the Middle Ages Gazette.

Since 1890 the Kings and Queens and their Ministers have been too busy weathering intrigue, warfare and political storm to "go a-Maying". The only time they got up at sunrise was during the war when they grabbed their bathrobes and ran for bomb shelters.

THE MAY POLE—May festivities were frowned on for a time in England and America by the Puritans, who saw a phallic symbolism in May pole rites. This was a business of erecting a large pole in the village square, decorating it with flowers and streamers, and then dancing around it until the end of the day or until they collapsed from exhaustion—whichever came first. And if it's of interest, there was a ship called the Mayflower which sailed from England for America, making some of the ancestors of our present aristocracy seasick on the 63-day crossing.

G. I.—VETERANS SERVICE

Q. What is meant by the term "Veterans Preference" in Civil Service employment?

A. Veteran Preference refers to the benefits to which men and women who served honorably in the armed forces of the U. S., may be entitled in connection with employment in the Federal Government and in the Government of the District of Columbia.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q. Why do we call lead heavy, and feathers light?

A. Because the amount of matter contained in a quantity of lead occupying a given space is much greater than in a quantity of feathers capable of occupying the same space. The original particles of matter which make up the composition of lead and feathers are also different, and in the lead are arranged in much nearer connection with each other than in the feathers.

Q. I am a widow 48 years old. I will be married in the early summer to a man about five-years my senior. We both have grown children. Would you suggest a simple or an elaborate wedding?

A. The simpler the second marriage ceremony is, the better taste it displays. The ceremony may be either at home or at the church, with only relatives and intimate friends present. The bride should not wear pure white, nor should she wear a veil or carry orange blossoms. A coat suit or an afternoon gown of silk or crepe are appropriate costume.

Q. How are mushrooms propagated?

A. In nature they are propagated by means of spores, which serve the same purpose as seeds, but differ from them in that the spores are microscopic and do not contain an organized embryo. When mushrooms are cultivated artificially, the spores are germinated and developed into a propagated material called spawn, which is used for planting the beds. The spawn is grown on sterilized, solid material in bottles of about one quart capacity. In making spawn the mushroom spores must be gathered, germinated, and grown in the absence of all contaminating molds. This is a highly technical process, requiring laboratory apparatus and a known edge of pure culture methods. For this reason the production of mushroom spawn has been developed chiefly by a comparitively small number of growers who make a specialty of growing spawn and selling it to other growers.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Those who have known John L. Lewis during the years concluded long ago that one of the dominating forces in his make-up was personal ego. You have only to watch John L. in the washroom on a pullman car, brushing his hair, combing his eye-brows, looking in the mirror from this angle and that, to know that the big miner boss studies every detail of his dress as carefully as an actor.

Pearson

Or if you are lunching in the Carlton hotel here at 1:15 as a hush settles over the diningroom and every guest turns to watch Lewis stride the entire length of the room to his favorite table, you realize that those entrances are planned with the care of an actor.

Or if you go through the headquarters of the United Mine Workers, formerly the dignified university club just a stone's throw from the White House, your suspicions are confirmed that John L. Lewis relishes the luxury of oak-paneled offices and ornate leather chairs just as much—perhaps more—than the tycoon of Wall Street.

Or when you visit the assembly room in the basement of the United Mine Workers' building, a hundred pictures stare at you—all framed cartoons of John L. Lewis.

Unquestionably if John L. Lewis hadn't built up his own ego, he wouldn't be where he is today. Ego had done a lot for John. But sometimes ego has interfered with the things he was working for; certainly it has interfered with the interests of the country.

Today, for instance, labor friends say that one thing irking Lewis is the fact that most of Phil Murray's negotiations with the steel companies were conducted right inside the White House. Murray even sat frequently with the President himself. Lewis, on the other hand, hasn't been given that recognition.

It happens that there is no man in the USA of whom John L. Lewis is more jealous than Phil Murray. Once pals and partners in organizing the CIO, Lewis split, finally went back to the AFL. Meanwhile, Murray helps govern two great unions—the steel and auto workers—which are even more powerful than Lewis' mine workers. Finally, Murray is the friend of the President of the United States.

This is a crushing thing to the Lewis ego, and friends say it is one reason why he is determined to get a higher wage boost than Murray's steel and auto workers.

—THE BALKY SWISS—

Insiders say that Switzerland, the little nation which posed as the benign and friendly neutral, is now displaying the same tactics as the Capone gang in hanging on to Nazi loot.

The secret negotiations now going on in Washington to recover Nazi gold from Switzerland have been carefully guarded, but it has leaked out that Switzerland's policy is to keep all the gold which the Germans stole from France, Denmark, Belgium and other occupied countries and sent to Switzerland for safe-keeping.

Like the Capone gang, the Swiss won't return this looted gold to France, Denmark, Belgium and other countries from which it was stolen.

The show-down came to a head the other day over two points:

First, the Allied delegations told the Swiss they must give the Allies all the Nazi gold ($130,000,000); and second, the Swiss must hand over one-third of the Nazi stocks and bonds deposited there during the war.

To each of these, Dr. Walter Stucki, head of the Swiss delegation said: "No!"

"We do not recognize any obligation to return the gold," he said. He added, however, that Switzerland was willing to give $25,000,000 to help rehabilitate Europe.

"That is an insult!" remarked French delegate Paul Chargueraud, adding that more than $130,000,000 of Allied gold could be proven to have gone to Switzerland.

At that point, Stuckin, in a huff, walked out.

That same morning, Randolph Paul, top U. S. negotiator, sent a letter to Dr. Stucki saying that unless the Allies heard to the contrary promptly, they would have to report to their governments the collapse of the negotiations. Stucki hastily replied that he had merely walked out in order to get new instructions from Switzerland.

Despite all this, some treasury officials urge a lenien' policy toward the Swiss. It happens that they have $1,500,000,000 of assets now frozen in this country including $500,000,000 in gold, and the French are preparing to clap a lien on these assets. Some treasury officials, however, are opposed.

Not so, however, sage Secretary of the Treasury Fred Vinson, who remembers all the Swiss collaboration with the Nazis during the war.

"Down in my state," drawled the Kentuckian, "when you bet on the wrong horse, you pay off. The Swiss bet on the wrong horse."

The housing shortage has brought about a lot of changes. Now the whole family goes home to mother.

Blue dress suits are tops these days. When the vogue turns to green we can safely bring ours out.

You better not believe it when told that you can get any kind of meat you want tomorrow. It's just a lot of baloney!

Come June, and couples will start hieing to Canada to eat, drink and be married.

AFTER 15 YEARS FINDS CONSTIPATION RELIEF

Now Feels Like "Old Self," Thanks to Famous Cereal

Given up hope of finding lasting relief from constipation? Then read this sincere unsolicited letter:

"I suffered from constipation for 15 years. It got so bad I had to retire from business. Nothing I tried gave me much relief until I began eating Kellogg's All-Bran every day. In one month I was completely regular, and I feel as well and vigorous as I did in my twenties." William J. Anderson, R-3, Shawnee, Oklahoma.

You, too, may never have to take another harsh laxative for constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, if you eat one ounce of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day, and drink plenty of water. Do this every day for ten days, and if not completely satisfied, send empty carton to the Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan. You will get double your money back! ALL-BRAN is not a purgative. It's a wholesome cereal providing gentle bulk helpful to normal laxation. Eat it as a cereal or in muffins every day.

Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg's of Battle Creek and Omaha.

Fisherman Claim For Nets Denied

Menominee — Michigan game and fish laws which grant Conservation officers the right of search and seizure without a warrant today seemed headed for a test in the Michigan supreme court. Thurman B. Doyle, counsel for Walter Odean, Ingallston fisherman, said he would appeal a verdict returned by a Menominee circuit court jury last night which acquitted Conservation Officers Clarence Lienna and Oscar Sundquist of illegal seizure last November 5 of 41 gill nets owned by Odean. The jury, composed of four women and eight men, reached its verdict after three hours deliberation.

The action was a civil replevin suit instituted against the officers personally and seeking $507 which Odean claimed as the value of the nets seized. In explaining the not guilty verdict, Michael J. Anuta, defense attorney, said that under Michigan court rules when a person, charged with taking property, is defending a replevin action and the jury finds the taking of the property was justified, the verdict is "not guilty."

Used cartridge cases salvaged from training grounds and battle areas were used in making new U. S. pennies.

STRIKERS NEED FOOD

Crystal Falls—County supervisors on Monday will consider a request by the county board of social welfare for a $10,000 appropriation for relief to needy families of men made idle by the three month-old mine strike.

In a resolution to the supervisors, welfare oficers point out that money for direct relief have been exhausted and more is needed to take care of indigent families which are being added to the relief roll daily. The commission is distributing food orders only to strikers, and in smaller allotments to regular relief clients.

Carlson originally came here from Escanaba.

DISTRICT SPUD SHOWS TO QUIT?

State Exhibit Proposed At Detroit As Substitute

Cadillac—A state grower-consumer potato show may be held in Detroit in November in place of the district potato shows in the main tuber producing sections of the state.

A committee to make arrangements for the Detroit exhibit was appointed here at a meeting of district show leaders. Industry spokesmen believed more benefit could be derived from holding a show for consumers to see than arranging district competitions for producers.

Held the first week of November, industry spokesmen said the show could be arranged to dovetail with the proposed promotional program of the Michigan Potato Development association and the agriculture committee of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Scenes From The Rotary Conference

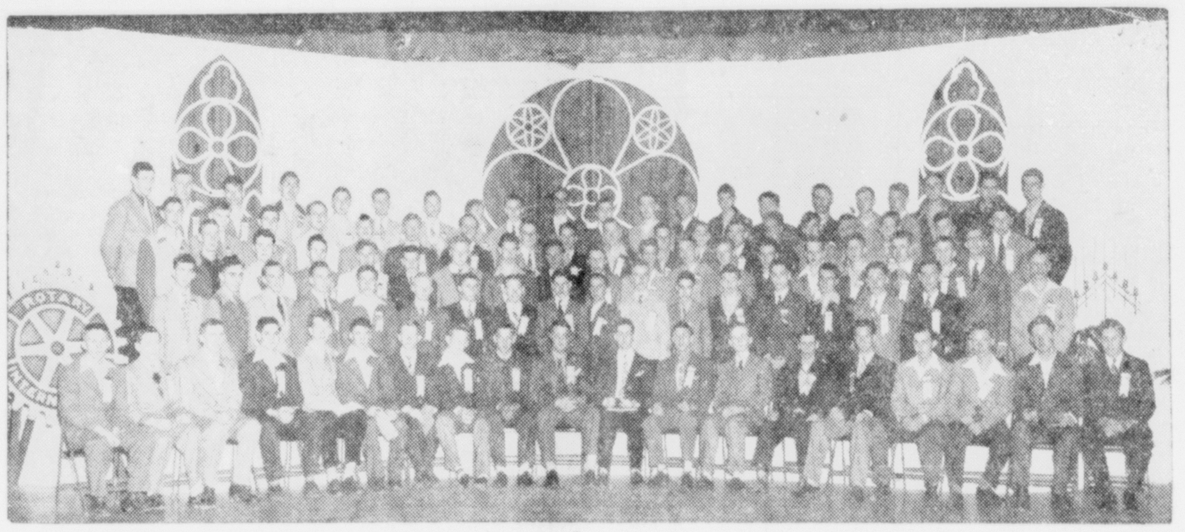

REGISTERING THE DELEGATES — More than 500 Rotarians and their wives from Northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula registered for the district conference which ended in Escanaba last night. At the registration desk in the Delta hotel were Fred Bode (foreground) of Escanaba; Mrs. Ralph Olson, Escanaba, cashier; William Milne, Phillips, Wis.; James Fisher, Houghton; Robert Burns, Wakefield; and F. J. Earle of Escanaba.

BUFFET AT COUNTRY CLUB—Rotarians and Rotary Anns spent Sunday afternoon at sightseeing and golf, followed by a buffet supper served at the Escanaba Country Club. Serving themselves from the table (left to right) are Carl Eman of Ishpeming; Marguerite Gaummett of Ishpeming; Ebbo Ecklund of Ishpeming; Nathan Narotzsky of Ishpeming; Dr. G. W. Moll and Peter Jensen of Escanaba.

ROTARY AND ROSES—All conference delegates received a rose when they registered, including A. J. "Bert" Young, past president and veteran member of the Escanaba Rotary Club. Mrs. F. J. Earle, wife of the president-elect of the Escanaba club, pins the rose on Mr. Young's coat in the presence of two visiting Rotary Anns — Mrs. James Fisher of Houghton and Mrs. J. P. Fugere of Iron Mountain.

UTHROTAR IN FIRST CONFERENCE—Newest service program of Rotary—service to youth through Uthrotar—held its first district conference in Escanaba in conjunction with the Rotarians. Approximately 100 boys with outstanding records in high schools of their communities in Northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula attended the Uthrotar sessions as delegates selected by Rotary clubs. They are pictured here on the Wm. Oliver memorial auditorium stage in Junior high school, where most of the discussion panels and group meetings of Uthrotar were held under the direction of a committee headed by E. E. Edick, Rotarian and principal of the Escanaba Senior high school.

Harold Lindsay Elected Rotary District Governor

Harold Lindsay of Escanaba yesterday was elected governor of the 143rd district, Rotary International, for 1946-47, at a business meeting of the district conference which ended here last night. Lindsay is a past president of the Escanaba Rotary club, of which he has been a member for many years.

The only name placed in nomination by the committee or from the floor, Lindsay was elected by unanimous ballot without opposition.

Lindsay is owner of the Gloverland Paper company of Escanaba, and is secretary of the Upper Peninsula State Fair board. He is a former secretary of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, and has been active in civic affairs and in service projects for the Rotary club for a number of years.

Lindsay succeeds Francis E. Taylor of Merrill, Wis., who is the retiring Rotary district governor.

Resolutions adopted by Rotarians of the district, which includes Northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, included:

That vacancies on the nominating committee, which occur because of the death, termination of membership, or resignation of committee members, be filled by appointment by the district governor.

That the district conference fund be limited to $2,000 instead of $1,500, and that monies exceeding this amount be used to lessen the registration fee or add to the program of the succeeding conferences.

That a vote of thanks be extended the Rotary clubs of Escanaba and Gladstone for their work in planning for the conference and entertaining the delegates; and that a vote of appreciation also be extended to the Rotary Anns of the above-named clubs and to others who assisted in the success of the conference program.

After considerable discussion a resolution opposing the proposed removal of Rotary International headquarters from Chicago to Denver was tabled. In the resolution it was proposed to instruct all delegates to the International convention to vote against the change.

McGovern Sees Language As World Peace Barrier

"If you could feed the peoples of the various countries of Europe a goona-goona pill, so that when they awoke they would have forgotten their various tongues and could speak but one language, most of their troubles would be over," William M. McGovern, professor of political science at Northwestern university, told Rotarians at their district conference session yesterday morning.

McGovern's topic was "Nations and Nationalism After the War", a subject on which he spoke with the authority of a world traveler, world resident, and student of the peoples of the world.

It is not the barrier of race but of language that prevents understanding between people of different nations, McGovern said. So far as race is concerned there are but three basic racial groups — white, black and yellow. Race together with religion, social and material culture bring about misunderstandings and rivalries, or they are ties that bind nations closer if they are similar.

Nationalism affected us before the war, and will affect us after the war, McGovern declared. A solution of the nationalist problem would bring us peace for the next 25 years, he added.

Supporting his contention that it is not race which binds groups together in nationalism, McGovern pointed out that Germany is one-half blond Nordic and one-half dark Alpine in its population.

"It is not what your race is, but what you think it is that counts. People will shoot and fight for such foolishness," he added. "It is impossible to organize things by race."

Language is the greatest important single factor in the formation of nations, the speaker said. Like language will bring political unity and federation. In America, he said, where race is hardly visible to the naked eye, there has been little trouble because of the binding tie of one language. Our relationship with Great Britain, while not always peaceful, is founded on mutual understanding through one language.

He declared that he was optimistic over China, because it has a basic language and a similarity of other social factors.

Of India's future he was pessimistic, because of a dissimilarity not only of race, but of religion and custom between the peoples of north India and south India. Religion can be a barrier, he said, and cited the division between Ireland and England, between Poland and her neighbors as examples.

The Jews, McGovern said, are not a race. There is no Semitic race, and the Semitic language is spoken mostly by the Arabs — whose noses turn up. Many Jews are pure Nordic, although the majority are mixtures of Mediterranean types. There are even Chinese Jews whose appearance is similar to the Chinese, McGovern said.

Nationalism was the cause of most wars in the 19th and 20th centuries, the speaker continued. Yet nationalistic differences are largely artificial and should really make little difference among peoples of the world. Language, however, is the barrier that prevents understanding and results in war, he concluded.

McGovern also spoke to the Rotary Anns at their Monday noon luncheon at the Country Club.

Uthrotar Camp Planned Here For Coming Summer

Proposals by Uthrotar delegates at their district conference in Escanaba that the new youth service group of Rotary become a permanent organization was heartily endorsed by Rotarians, and it is expected that the first annual summer camp of Uthrotar will be held August 27-31 at Clear Lake in the Hiawatha National Forest in Delta county.

The date is still tentative and formal action has yet to be taken toward inauguration of a permanent Uthrotar club. The drafting of a charter and program for the proposed club is expected to be undertaken this summer at Clear Lake. The U. S. Forest Service camp at Clear Lake will accommodate 64 youths. A nominal charge would be made for the camp tuition.

Harold Lindsay, district governor-elect, last night received applause in answer to his question as to whether the Rotary clubs of the district would cooperate in the Uthrotar program. The Uthrotar program is something new in Rotary's program of service to youth, but is expected to become increasingly important. Under the program, clubs will sponsor boys outstanding in high schools in their communities as members of Uthrotar, giving them recognition and encouragement.

At last night's banquet meeting Richard Danfield, Rhinelander, Uthrotar conference chairman; Keith Lehto, Ishpeming, spokesman for the Uthrotar panel discussion groups; and James Degnan, Jr., Escanaba, conference secretary, spoke for the Uthrotar delegates, numbering about 100. Lehto reported that Uthrotar had discussed and was proposing father and son banquets to encourage fellowship; vocational service for youth; youth centers as a factor in Rotary's community service program; and under the heading of international service the founding of an exchange student program.

Uthrotar group secretaries were Wendell Buckland of Escanaba; Paul Harrison of Eau Claire; Peter VanLaanen, Iron Mountain, and Dave Locke of Escanaba. Panel discussion members were Wallace Watt, leader, and Uthrotars Keith Lehto of Ishpeming, Don Knight of Eau Claire, Gordon Gronert of Niagara, and Chan Harris of Sturgeon Bay.

Delegates to Uthrotar not previously listed were Gerald Kontny and Mitchell Milavett of Ashland; James Jewell of Rhinelander; Robert Garrett, Henry Hebert, Charles Hirn and James Murphy of St. Joseph's high school in Escanaba.

ROTARIANS END DISTRICT MEET

Banquet And Governor's Ball Are Held Here Last Night

Rotarians of the 143rd district last night ended their conference at Escanaba with a governor's banquet at St. Joseph's church, followed by a ball at Terrace Gardens, where dancing was enjoyed. The banquet speaker was Johnnie Neblett of Chicago, who entertained with anecdotes similar to those he presents on his radio program "So the Story Goes".

Strange, humorous and amazing incidents and facts from the lives of persons important in history and of the present were told by Neblett, who flavored his talk with bits of philosophy and amusing stories. He was introduced by James R. Durfee of Antigo, banquet toastmaster. Mrs. Neblett accompanied her husband to Escanaba and was a guest at the dinner.

Retiring District Governor Francis Taylor of Merrill, Wis., announced that the president's award for the past Rotary year went to the Ishpeming Rotary club, Sam Cohodas, president. The Ishpeming club had completed 50 projects in the recognition program. In second and third places were the clubs of Three Lakes and Shawano.

Harold Lindsay of Escanaba, yesterday elected district governor, presented Mrs. Taylor with a gift in behalf of the district.

During the dinner the Escanaba high school string ensemble played a series of numbers directed by A. L. Shomento. The Rev. Fr. Alphonse Wilberding, pastor of St. Joseph's church, delivered invocation. The Orpheus Choral club sang a group of songs directed by R. P. Bowers.

Approximately 600 persons attended the dinner at St. Joseph's church, and an additional number enjoyed the ball that followed at Terrace Gardens. The convention was described as one of the best attended in the history of district conferences.

The first wireless message from a plane in flight was sent by J. A. D. McCurdy in 1910 at an aviation meet at Sheepshead Bay, N. Y.

The height of 46,948 feet, the international altitude record for women pilots, was made by Mrs. Maryse Hilsz on June 23, 1936.

PARENTS SEEN AS DELINQUENT

"Dead Ends" For Youth Caused By Adults, Says Coers

Ninety-two per cent of the youths in the Indiana Boys' Reformatory School are there "because of their delinquent parents", Morris H. Coers, Indianapolis, told a Rotary district conference audience Sunday night at Wm. Oliver Memorial auditorium in Escanaba Junior high school.

In an inspirational and entertaining address, Coers, a Baptist minister and former chaplain at the Indiana reformatory for boys, described personal experiences in which the "delinquency" of adults was the cause of youths downfall. He also related incidents which occurred during the war period, when he served as a field director for the American Red Cross overseas.

"We must face the fact that boys and girls must be trained," Coers said, and described the importance of such training through the home, the church, and organizations such as Rotary and other service clubs. He called on the churches of America to take a new interest in the boys and girls of their communities—"for we must conquer evil or we perish as a nation."

Boys and girls in taverns and on the streets of the cities late at night are the result, not the cause, of delinquency—in the homes of America, Coers said. The delinquency begins with the parent in the home, and its result is seen later among the children, he added. The mounting toll of crimes committed by youth—29 per cent of all crime in America last year was by boys and girls under 21—is a problem which must be solved by community action in a democratic way. Military training under "isms" in which youth becomes the property of the state, is not the answer, the speaker declared.

Asserting that he was not a pessimist, Coers declared the problems of youth are also the problems of adults, and that concerted action can bring a solution.

Other features of the Sunday night program included invocation by Rev. Otto Steen of the First Methodist church, Escanaba; songs by the Escanaba high school a cappella choir; a tribute to the memory of departed Rotarians of the district by A. J. Young of Escanaba; and a report on Uthrotar activities.

Northern Lights Dance Is Timed

Richmond, Va.—The rhythm of the stately dance of the Northern Lights has been timed by Prof. L. B. Snoddy of the University of Virginia, who reported his findings before the meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science here. He made his observations at Churchill, Manitoba, using a photometer to measure brightness range.

He found that a given pulse of light, starting at the low brightness level of the moonless, starlit sky, would reach a maximum of 20 times that intensity in 20 seconds, and in another 20 seconds would subside to its minimum.

Hart High School Students Visit Here On Skip-day

Munising — Skip day at the Hart high school, Hart, Mich., prompted 12 of the senior boys to take a trip that brought them into the Munising territory over the weekend.

Starting out after the senior class play on Friday night, May 10, nine of the boys piled into the back of the three quarter ton truck and three jumped in the cab as drivers and they started out. The route took them by way of the Straits and they plan to wind up their travels at a ferry-boat port near Menominee in Michigan or Wisconsin and travel back to their homes by water. They expect to be back at Hart by Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. They are all members of the senior class.

The boys drove all night Friday to reach the Upper Peninsula early Saturday morning. They spent the night at Wagner' Falls where some of them slept in a tent and the others slept in the back of the truck. The boys took in the dance at Trenary, saying they had a swell time. They were awed by the snow flurries and cold weather Munising experienced on Saturday morning, and were all excited by the wild deer scampering into the woods as their truck sped along the highway.

WATER TASTE IS PROBLEM

Chlorine Dioxide May Be Employed At Marquette

Marquette—It appeared today today that the city has found a way to eliminate the taste from its water supply after a struggle of several decades.

The answer, city officials believe, is chlorine dioxide, harmless to humans, death to bacteria, and a super-oxidizer that knocks out of the water the tastes given off when ordinary chlorine used as a purifier reacts with minute portions of phenol industrial wastes dumped into Lake Superior.

Marquette's water supply had previously been made safe, so far as bacteria are concerned, by addition of chlorine to the intake well at the pumping station at the foot of Arch street. Adoption of break-point chlorination a year ago made it doubly safe, because it provided a chlorine "residual" to put the axe to harmful bacteria anywhere in the city's mains.

Taste Is Not Chlorine

But there was a catch to it. The catch was the taste, apparent from time to time and instigator of numerous complaints. Householders were not tasting chlorine, although they might have thought they were. They were tasting what chemists call a "chlorphenol" reaction—chlorine plus phenol.

Given sufficient time, chlorine can act upon a water supply by itself to eliminate tastes caused by phenol reactions, by burning up the phenols. But Marquette's well—into which water flows by gravity from an intake reaching far into the harbor—is relatively small and the water turnover comparatively rapid. The chlorine, under the breakpoint system, hasn't time to do a full taste-killing job, which is to say, a full oxidizing job.

So chlorine plus phenols equaled a "dark brown taste."

Stanley Newton's Book On Bunyan To Be Published

Packard and Company, Chicago publishers, have announced the forthcoming publication of "Great Lakes Paul Bunyan," the book by Stanley D. Newton of Sault Ste. Marie. Copy is already in print and waiting for covers.

The first edition will consist of 5,000 copies, and about 1,000 copies have been booked in advance, the publishers say. This will be the first Paul Bunyan book since James Stevens' "Saginaw Paul Bunyan" in 1926, with the exception of two or three smaller editions for juvenile readers.

The book will contain the cream of hundreds of Paul Bunyan stories sent from all over the country and Canada to the Bureau News, Marquette. The stories have been linked in narrative form, largely with a Northern Peninsula background. Before printing, the manuscript was submitted to many prominent authorities who predict a large sale for the book.

"It is worthy of note that the only two American sagas likely to endure — those of Hiawatha and Paul Bunyan — have an authentic background in Michigan's Northern Peninsula, and particularly in the Tahquamenon river region," said Mr. Newton. Over a period of years, the author has checked and rechecked the volume's stories and songs with many lumberjacks whom he knew personally. Thus practically all copy has come from first hands, and it is believed that the book will constitute a valuable addition to American folklore and the traditions of the great logger.

Arrangements have not been completed for the issue of the fourth edition of Mr. Newton's "Story of Sault Ste. Marie," but it is hoped to have the book on the market this year. A large part of the first edition of his pamphlet, "The Way Out of War and Industrial Troubles," has been distributed and numerous comments are being received from the U. S., Canada and abroad.

It has been estimated that it takes $37 a year to teach a pupil in the elementary grades, and $145 a year in public high school.

One time there were two farmers

One day Jake stopped over at Bill's farm. "Got a great plan to save money this winter," he said. "I'm mixin' a little sawdust with the feed. Hoss don't notice the difference."

Around Christmas they met again. "Say," Jake grinned, "you oughta try my system. Got the nag eatin' half sawdust an' half grain now. It's a lot cheaper."

Bill wasn't so sure. "B'lieve I'll stick to oats."

Along about spring plowing time Jake came over to Bill's place, looking kind of glum.

"What's wrong?" asked Bill. "Isn't your money-savin' idea workin'?"

"Oh, it worked fine," Jake said. "Had him trained so he was eatin' nothin' but sawdust. Only this mornin' the ornery cuss fell down an' wasn't able to get up. How 'bout lettin' me hire your hoss for my plowin'?"

THERE'S a big "plowing" job ahead if Michigan Bell is to expand and improve telephone service and supply it to all who are waiting. It can't be done on sawdust.

Here is why. Thousands of thrifty people have their savings invested in Bell System securities. Their money makes good telephone service possible. In fact, Michigan Bell's 5-year $150,000,000 expansion and improvement program will be financed largely by these and other investors. And that program will provide more and better telephone service for you.

So you see, our earnings are important all around. And telephone rates—such a small part of your monthly budget—must be maintained at a level which will keep our earnings adequate. Otherwise, investors would not put their money into the telephone business, and the future quality and extent of your telephone service would suffer.

We believe our customers want good telephone service, even if it costs a trifle more than inferior service.

Technical improvements over the years have brought rates for good service down and have kept them down in the face of rising costs. But if the recent rapid rise in costs continues, rate increases may become necessary. In any event, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary to insure good telephone service.

GLEE CLUB TO VISIT SCHOOL

College Of Education Singers To Present Concert Thursday

The Girls' Glee club of the Northern Michigan College of Education will present a program at the high school auditorium on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Supt. A. F. Hall is calling attention to the general public to this event because he believes that this program is of outstanding merit and that it should be well attended.

The Girls' Glee club is comprised of thirty-seven girls whose homes are located in towns all over the Upper Peninsula area. In addition, two young men assist the girls as soloists.

Among the innovations on the program will be presentation of musical settings for such familiar rhymes as "Jack and Jill," "There Was a Crooked Man" and "Humpty Dumpty." Music for these themes has been arranged on themes by Gounod, Brahms, Delibes and Sinding. These humorous settings will be presented by a sextette and two trios.

Among the more serious numbers to be presented will be "Minnelied," by Brahms, "Sea Birds," by Blanchard, and "Bois Epais," by Lully. The feature of the program will be the presentation of four love songs by Brahms arranged for the full group accompanied by two pianists and violin obligato.

Miss Ruth Craig, who is recognized as one of the outstanding musicians of the Upper Peninsula, is director of the glee club.

Wage Liens Filed In Circuit Court

Eighteen former employes of the Hiawatha Metal Products company have filed liens in circuit court against the company for wages due them. The wages involved take in about a three weeks' period between the time that John Kluit severed his connection with the company and last Thursday when the plant was shut down.

These claims were filed with the county clerk, most of which were presented Saturday.

LT. JAMES C. WHITTAKER

TO SPEAK HERE—Lt. James C. Whittaker, who shared with Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and six other crew members of Rickenbacker's ill-fated plane the terror of 22 days adrift in the Pacific will speak at the Manistique high school auditorium on Thursday, May 23.

Lt. Whittaker, co-polit of the lost plane, is author of the best seller "We Thought We Heard the Angels Sing." His story is an inspiring one because it is "a living demonstration of the finding of a great faith."

In his talk here Lt. Whittaker will tell of his and other crew members' experiences when thirst, hunger, danger from sharks and the shadow of death turned them helplessly to God. His story is not an evangelistic sermon, but the experience of a man who was so close to death that he "thought he heard the angels sing."

Cooks Men Injured In Car Mishap Here Monday Afternoon

Arthur Miller and George Andderas, both of Cooks, were injured, the latter perhaps seriously, when the car Miller was driving sideswiped an automobile driven by Charles Blair, Manistique, at the intersection of Cedar and Main streets and then crashed into the wall of the Manistique Bakery late Monday afternoon.

Miller evidently lost control of his car after it struck the Blair machine and it ran up the driveway of the Ewald filling station and then into the bakery shop wall.

Both cars were proceeding toward River street when Miller attempted to pass Blair at the intersection.

Andderas is Miller's uncle.

SEARCH MADE FOR LOST BOAT

Crew, Overcome By Gas Fumes Finally Gets Safely Ashore

Coast Guard stations all the way from Escanaba to St. Ignace were placed on the alert Saturday night and Sunday morning advised to be on the lookout for a fishing craft "Judy" long overdue on its way from Marinette to Little Hog Island, about seven miles east of Naubinway.

The craft, a new boat of the pond net type (cabin in center) was being taken from the shipyards at Marinette to Naubinway on Saturday morning. Earl Pomeroy, who had purchased the boat, had driven to Marinette with two members of his fishing crew and had put them in charge of the craft while he drove his car home. Late that evening when the boat had failed to put in an appearance, he appealed to the coast guard for help.

The search began about daylight and continued until past noon without any results and a coast guard plane was about to be put into service when the report was received that the crew members were safe.

The men had been overcome by fumes from a leaky exhaust pipe and were unconscious for several hours. The boat, unmanned, drifted eastward and finally came ashore on a sandy beach near Brevort, about twenty miles beyond where they were supposed to land. The men finally recovered consciousness and were able to get the boat into open water and eventually back to the fishing base harbor.

Neither one of the men suffered any serious after effects from the experience and the boat was not damaged.

Gladstone Boys On Guam Get To Gether

A group of Gladstone boys got together and had an enjoyable reunion recently on Guam, according to a letter written by Seaman First Class Roger Anderson to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Anderson.

The part of his letter telling of the reunion follows:

"The last couple of days might be called old home town week or a reasonable facsimile thereof. Gordon Peterson, Philip Gosgrove, Don Rasmussen, Sarge Sarasin, LeRoy Young, Bocker (Irving) DeRoeck and I. "Flip" and Pete stayed down at Bocker's camp on Saturday night as they came ashore Saturday noon and we went for a drive in the afternoon and Sunday afternoon we went down to JCA to see if we could locate Rasmussen. He was there and Sarasin was with him. Sarasin told us that Young was down at NSC so we went down there and saw him. We had quite a good time visiting and talking over past experiences. I thought everyone was more or less the same except Flip. He sure has calmed down since he has been in service. He has a perfect record and is a Third Class PO (Coxswain). He is one of the big wheels on his ship, too. We were out on Pete's ship Friday afternoon and when it pulled in drydock there was Flip up there telling everybody what to do. He's quite a guy."

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Sgt. Melvin F. Krouth who was killed on Okinawa one year ago today, May 14, 1945:

A slip of yellow paper,
An envelope edged in black,
Three words, "War department regrets"
Meant you would never come back.
Oh, Melvin, how we miss you,
Miss you more each day;
If we could just be near you,
To linger at your grave.
Some say time heals an aching heart,
But no, it is not true,
For one long year has passed
And our hearts still ache for you.

Northern Glee Club Here On Thursday

The Girls' Glee club of the Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, under the direction of Miss Ruth Craig, head of the voice department, will give a concert at 8 o'clock Thursday evening in the high school auditorium.

An advance ticket sale is being conducted for the event. Tickets may be procured from any member of the music department.

Through the years, Northern's glee club has maintained a high standard of music and has been an outstanding ensemble in the peninsula. Innovations have been made this year which will have popular appeal.

The musical standard is as high as ever but there are program interpolations of the semi-classical and modern that will delight the audience.

For instance, music for 21 such familiar rhymes as "Jack and Jill," "Georgie Porgy," There was a Crooked Man," and "Humpty Dumpty," will be sung to music arranged on themes by Gounod, Brahms, Delibes and Sinding—diverting musical spoofing by requiring ability on the part of the singers and director. The rhymes will be sung by a sextet and two trios.

In addition to the three glee club groups, containing such music as "Minnelied" (Brahms-Rosenberg), "Sea Birds" (Blanchard), "We Danced to the Music Beguiling" (Arensky-Boyd) and "Boid Epais" (Sombre Woods) by Lully-Howorth, there is an impressive finale, a group of Braham's love songs with a violin obbligato by Patricia Arenz and a piano duet by Lotta Osterberg and Luella Latola.

Soloists for the concert are Marilyn Babcock, soprano, Marquette, who also appears in duets with Mary Corcoran, Ishpeming; Betty Lou DeChambeau, Marinette, soprano; Rauha Koski, Marquette, mezzo-contralto, and Paul Wilson, Rockland, baritone. There are numerous incidental solos in the glee club numbers.

Instrumental numbers include flute solos by Derek Morris, Negaunee, and a string trio composed of Patricia Arenz, Marquette; Bonnie Foster, Escanaba, and Luella Latola, Gwinn.

Miss Craig is a skilled and experienced director. She did her under-graduate work at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, studying with Dr. Hoffman, and at the University of Michigan School of Music. She received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees at the American Conservatory of Music where she studied with the late Karlton Hackett and Theodore Harrison.

Daune H. Haskell, head of the music department at Northern, business manager of the club, will accompany the organization on the tour.

Tigers Score Six Runs In Wild Second Inning, Nip White Sox, 6-5

THORNTON LEE PASSES 6 MEN

Newhouser Knocked Out Of Box, First Time In Six Starts

Detroit, May 13 (AP)—Spotted six runs in a wild second inning in which Thornton Lee issued six passes and only one hit—a bunt—the Detroit Tigers barely lasted through to nip the Chicago White Sox 6 to 5 here today for their eighth straight victory.

Hal Newhouser, knocked out of the box for the first time in six starts this year, allowed 10 hits in seven innings but Freddie Hutchinson stepped in to save Hal's fifth win.

Orval Grove hurled two-hit shutout ball for 5⅔ innings after relieving Lee but too much damage had resulted in the crazy second for the Sox to overcome the deficit and avoid their fifth straight defeat.

Lee, who fanned the first two men to face him, walked seven of the next 11 to hand the Tigers the win, although Chicago had a 10 to four edge in hits.

After getting in the hole 6-0, the Sox nicked Newhouser for one run in the fourth on Whitey Platt's double and Dario Lodigiani's single and bunched five straight singles in the fifth for three more.

When Lodigiani and Don Kolloway doubled successfully at the start of the eighth to cut Detroit's edge to 6-5, Newhouser gave way to Hutchinson, who retired the next six batsmen to cement the decision.

Here's the way the Tigers scored six runs in the big inning for a sweep of the three-game series with Chicago:

Pat Mullin, first up, walked and moved to second while Lee was throwing out Jim Outlaw. Paul Richards walked on four pitches and so did Newhouser, filling the bases. Lee ran the count to three and two on Eddie Lake and walked him, forcing in the first run. Mayo put down a perfect squeeze play bunt to the right of the mound and beat it out, Richards scoring. Barney McCosky walked on five pitches, forcing in another run and when Lee threw two balls and one strike to Anse Moore he was waved to the showers. Grove threw two more wide ones to Moore and another run was forced in. Greenberg banged an easy double play ball back to Grove, who threw wildly to the plate, Mayo scoring, and when Mullin lifted a fly to Platt in center McCosky scored after the catch. Outlaw forced Greenberg to end the inning.

Detroit's only hits besides Mayo's drag bunt were McCosky's infield hit in the first inning, Birdie Tebbetts' double in the sixth and Greenberg's single to center in the seventh.

Frank (Stubby) Overmire was Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to lefthand against the Washington Senators Tuesday in their first visit to Detroit this season.

Today's Monday crowd of 14,049 paid was the smallest here this year.

TWIN BILL DIVIDED

Cleveland, May 13 (AP)—The Cleveland Indians came up with a triple play today as they divided a doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns. The Tribe annexed the opener 9 to 2 on Red Embree's fancy five-hit performance, but the Browns came back in the afterpiece to triumph 3 to 0 on Al Milnar's six-hit job.

The triple killing occurred in the second inning of the nightcap. With Johnny Berardino on second and Mark Christman on first, Chuck Stevens sent a liner to Pitcher Joe Krakauskas, who snagged it, wheeled and threw to Manager Lou Boudreau at second to double Berardino. Boudreau then fired the ball to Mickey Rocco at first base before Christman could return.

Crystal Falls Wins On Errors In NWM Game Here

NWM SCORES SUNDAY

The Escanaba Bears lost a 3 to 2 decision to Crystal Falls in the opening game of the Northern Wisconsin Michigan baseball league season at the city diamond Sunday. The game was played in cold weather before a fair sized crowd of enthusiastic even though chilled fans.

Jack Beck, youthful Escanaba right hander, pitched an excellent game for the Bears, allowing only five hits, none for extra bases, but errors proved costly. Misplays figured in the scoring of all five runs made in the ball game, including the tallies registered by both clubs.

Crystal Falls scored twice in the second inning. Constantini reached second on Maycunich's two base error and scored on Aeschilman's single. Aeschilman went to third on Kuller's single and scored when the Bears executed a double play, Jungles to Morin to Deloria.

The Bears squared accounts in the sixth. Deloria singled, Morin got a life on Albiero's error and both scored on Maycunich's second double to center.

The winning run was scored by the visitors in the eighth. Aeschilman's grounder was bobbled by Kuchenberg and then Mickey heaved the ball over Deloria's head and Aeschilman scooted to second. He advanced to third when Kuller grounded out, Beck to Deloria, and came home on Richards' single.

Crystal Falls threatened again in the ninth. Stockero walked and Albiero singled. Marchetto flied out to centerfield and Constantini struck out. Aeschilman's grounder was fielded neatly by Kuchenberg but the throw to first pulled Deloria off the bag and the sacks were loaded. Beck got out of that jam by fanning Kuller for the third out.

Next Sunday the Bears will travel to Iron River.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Escanaba Bears lost their opening game in the NWM league Sunday to Crystal Falls, 3 to 2, but they put on a good show and showed lots of promise. The game was played in rather cold weather on a diamond slowed materially by the early morning snowfall. After shoveling the snow off the grass portion of the infield Sunday morning, John Schwalbach and his crew sprinkled sawdust over the clay, saturated it with gasoline and kerosene and set it afire. Eventually the diamond dried out sufficiently to play on it but it was not fast.

Gippy Derouin, Bears' left fielder, played a sparkling game for Escanaba. He snagged four fly balls, two of them very difficult catches, for a perfect performance in the field and punched out two of the Bears' five hits. Maycunich, centerfielder, also slammed out two hits, both of them doubles, for the only extra base blows of the game. His second double knocked in both of the Escanaba scores.

Incidentally, there wasn't an earned run in the game Sunday. Errors, of which there were eight, figured in all of the scoring plays. Beck of Escanaba and Constantini, Crystal Falls, both looked fine on the mound and finished their pitching duel just about even-Stephen. Each allowed five hits, no earned runs. Constantini fanned six and Beck seven. The Crystal Falls hurler walked two men and Beck gave free transportation to three men.

Fans are still trying to figure out the ruling in a screwy play that occurred in a sandlot game played recently by Boy Scouts from Rock and Rapid River. Bases were loaded and the batter hit a ground ball to an infielder. One of the base runners interfered with the infielder and was called out but somehow in the shuffle three runs crossed the plate and were scored. The ruling was in error, as the ball becomes dead and out of play when interference occurs. Base runners are required to return to the bases last touched at the time of the interference.

They also had a screwy play in the Hermansville-Daggett game at Hermansville Sunday. The Hermansville first sacker tried to bring down a wildly thrown ball by tossing his glove into the air. Ground rules permitted two bases on an overthrow at first but Daggett protested that the baserunner was entitled to an additional base because of the glove tossing act. The umpire demurred, however, and the runner went back to third. The umpire was right because the fielder's glove didn't touch the ball. If it had, the base runner would be entitled to two bases. Three bases are authorized if the glove is thrown and hits a batted ball.

Bowlers In ABC Topple 23,954,100

Buffalo, N. Y., May 13 (AP)—A total of 23,954,100 pins will have been sent crashing by 3,831,656 balls along 40 specially-constructed alleys by the close of the American Bowling Congress' annual world championship tournament.

That's what ABC statisticians figured today as they attempted to sum up in figures the history of the 62-day meet, third largest since the event was instituted in 1901.

A total of 239,541 games will have been bowled, with 100 pins estimated for each game.

The hard working pinboys, they said, will have lifted a total of 151,306,496 pounds, figured on a basis of 16 pounds for each ball or 61,306,496, plus a 90,000-pound total weight for the pins.

An estimated 155,688 admissions were sold.

The telegraphers said they sent 3,350,000 words describing the tournament to newspapers all over the country—500,000 more than were sent at the last ABC tournament held in Columbus, Ohio, in 1942.

A total of 5,744 teams were entered in the tournament, representing 36 states, the District of Columbia, Canada and Hawaii, with 25,567 bowlers, entered in the singles competition and 12,780 in the doubles.

Flying Yanks Take Plane To St. Louis

St. Louis, May 13 (AP) — The "Yankee Mainliner," a four-engined D. C.-4, carrying 30 members of the New York Yankees and Manager Joe McCarthy, landed at Lambert-St. Louis airport at 6:47 p. m. (EST) tonight, inaugurating the first arrangement by a major league team to use chartered planes to complete a baseball schedule.

The plane, carrying a total of 44 passengers, took off from New York at 2:15 p. m. (EST).

Joe McCarthy, Yankee manager and a veteran air passenger who said that he had flown through "both good and bad weather," said that many of his players had flying experience while in service, but he pointed out that flying was "not compulsory, and it is up to the player."

Among the stars on the flight were Joe DiMaggio, who bumped his head as he entered the plane; Charlie Keller, Bill Dickey and Spud Chandler.

Thirteenth Victory Taken By Spartans

Detroit, May 13 (AP) — Michigan State College scored twice in the 11th inning here today to win a 3 to 1 overtime baseball game from University of Detroit.

First Baseman Jack Breslin's single scored Pat Peppler with the winning run in the 11th as Keith Steffee and Robin Roberts, Spartan pitchers, limited Detroit to three hits while State was getting six off Tom Sporer of the Titans.

The victory was Michigan State's 13th in 17 games this year.

Mich. State	000 100 000 02—3 6 1
Detroit	100 000 000 00—1 3 2

FLY TO MARQUETTE

Marquette—F. A. Flodin, Iron Mountain president of the Lake Shore Engineering company, accompanied by A. M. Fleming, Detroit, general manager of the Chrysler division, and A. E. Gibson, Gibson, Cleveland., Ohio, president of the Wellman Engineering company, flew here yesterday in an amphibian plane for a business visit at the Lake Shore plant.

The plane, a Grumman Widgeon owned and piloted by Milo Fontanna, Iron Mountain, landed in Marquette bay. The group made a two and a half hour hop from Detroit and landed at Iron Mountain before coming here.

The Lake Shore has engineering contracts with Chrysler division and the Wellman company.

BOSTON NOSES OUT GIANTS, 7-6

Two Walks And Error In Ninth Prove Costly For New York

Boston, May 13. (AP)—Boston's Braves scored four times in the last of the ninth inning today on two hits, two walks and a costly error by reliefer Mike Budnick to nose out the New York Giants, 7-6, in a series finale.

Johnny Mize's seventh home run and Jack Graham's second had helped the Giants pile up a 6-3 lead for Hal Schumacher in the first eight frames but the veteran righthander weakened in the ninth inning.

'Bama Rowell walked and scored on Tommy Holmes' double when Ray Sanders tallied Holmes with his third single, Manager Mel Ott replaced Schumacher with Budnick. Chuck Workman sacrificed Sanders to second, Phil Masi walked and Stu Hofferth, batting for pitcher Earl Reid, advanced both men with an infield out.

Whitey Wietelmann grounded to second baseman Buddy Blattner but Budnick, covering first, dropped the throw allowing Sanders and Masi to score with the tying and winning runs.

Score by innings:

New York	202 002 000—6 10 2
Boston	300 000 004—7 9 0

Schumacher, Budnick (9) and Lombardi; Konstanty, Johnson (4), Roser (7), Reid (9) and Masi.

DODGERS STRETCH LEAD

Brooklyn, May 13. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers shoved three runs across the plate in the sixth inning today on a hit and two errors to break a 3-3 tie and defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-3.

The victory increased Brooklyn's first place margin over the idle St. Louis Cardinals two full games. It also was the Dodgers' ninth consecutive victory at Ebbets Field.

Philadelphia jumped into an early 3-1 lead at the expense of Ed Head but the Dodgers deadlocked the count in the fifth with the aid of a triple steal, the second Brooklyn has pulled against the Phillies in three days. With one run in and the bases loaded, Pete Reiser stole home and Dixie Walker third and Augie Galan second.

Score by innings:

Philadelphia	021 000 000—3 13 2
Brooklyn	010 023 00x—6 9 2

Weight Is Problem For British Champ Fighting Lesnevich

London, May 13 (AP)—Freddie Mills, British Empire light heavyweight champion, was forced to skip rope today in order to keep his weight below the 175-pound maximum for tomorrow night's world title fight with Gus Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J.

The Jersey jabber, meanwhile, rested and was confident he would weigh-in at about 174.

Mills' weight problem injected a new note into the mournful predictions English boxing writers have made regarding what is in store for the Britisher in the 15-round affair that gets under way at 4:20 p. m. (Eastern standard).

The British scribes insist that Lesnevich can name the round in which he will knock out Mills and that the London battler's only chance for victory hangs on a lucky punch or the opening of tender spots under Lesnevich's eyes.

X-rays of Outfielder Dick Wakefield's wrist, hurt last week in New York, revealed a small bone chip may keep him out of the lineup several additional days.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear grandmother, Mrs. Andrew Hilbe, who passed away three years ago today, May 14, 1943.

What would we give her hand to clasp,
Her patient face to see,
To hear her voice, to see her smile,
As in days that used to be;
But some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.

Sadly missed by her grandson,

EMMANUEL DART, JR.

TREE PLANTERS GIVEN BUTTONS

Pine Seedlings Set Out In Rapid River Forest

Rapid River junior and senior students planted 1,000 white pine seedlings in the Rapid River school forest last week. Approximately 35 students participated in the tree planting program.

All students who assisted in the planting of the pine seedlings in the Rapid River school forest have been presented with "Trees Forever" buttons contributed by the Escanaba Daily Press. Similar buttons are available to students in other schools who aid in the school forest planting program.

A rustic "Trees Forever" plaque to be erected at the forest site also will be presented to the Rapid River school by the Escanaba Daily Press.

Applications for buttons and school forest plaques should be made to "Trees Forever", Escanaba Daily Press, by school and community forest committees.

The pine seedlings were provided by the Michigan Department of Conservation nursery.

DRURY SPEAKS TO KIWANIANS

Youth Problem Discussed In Talk By Hi-Y Leader

If a community's most important resources, its boys and girls, were given as much attention as that which is devoted to public utilities, streets and other facilities, the youth problem would be far less serious than it is, Cliff Drury of East Lansing told Kiwanians at their luncheon meeting at the Central M. E. church yesterday noon. He is a leader in Hi-Y activities in Michigan, and came here to participate in the Rotary convention program.

Mr. Drury listed securities to which every child is entitled—a good home, where he will be adequately fed and clothed; a high faith in his parents, and a religious faith.

The current interests of teenage youth were discussed by Mr. Drury, who for the past 20 years has been active in boys' work. He said that present-day youth needs and desires help in making vocational choices, for many of them are wondering what occupations and professions will offer opportunities for them. Recreation for leisure time also holds an important place in the life of the boy or girl, the speaker added. He urged service clubs to take an interest in providing proper recreational facilities for youngsters.

Teen-agers are concerned about boy and girl relationships, Drury said. He pointed out, however, that it is important to allow youth to make its own choice, but to allow them to understand that the counsel of their parents is always available. The need for practicing democracy in the home in relationships between parents and children was emphasized by Mr. Drury, who told of an experiment in legislative democracy that has been tried with considerable success by the Hi-Y organizations.

In conclusion, he urged that local governments and various civic organizations concern themselves with the future of youth. He said it was a matter that deserves as much expert attention as the operation of various municipal departments.

Gov. Kelly Speaker At Governors' Meet

Chicago, May 12 (AP)—The 38th annual meeting of the Governors' conference will be held in Oklahoma City May 26-29, the conference headquarters announced today.

A headquarters spokesman said all 48 state governors were expected to attend the four-day meeting.

On Sunday, May 26, the only activity scheduled on the preliminary program was a reception and buffet supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buttram, (Nichols Hills) Oklahoma City.

Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson will address the May 29 luncheon session, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz listed as special guests. Other Wednesday speakers include Governors Martin of Pennsylvania, Chauncey Sparks, Alabama, Harry F. Kelly, Michigan, and Simeon S. Willis, Kentucky.

Milk and its products comprise more than 25 per cent of the foods estimated to be consumed annually by the average Americancan.

Menominee County Now On Fast Time

Menominee county is now entirely operating on daylight savings time, leaving only Norway and Kingsford in Dickinson county holding out against fast time for the entire Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

The City of Menominee adopted fast time Monday of last week and township units of the county followed suit later in the week, effective either Sunday, May 12, or Monday, May 13. By yesterday all of the townships in the county had moved their clocks ahead one hour.

Norway's city council rejected fast time at a meeting here last week and Kingsford had previously refused to go along with its sister city, Iron Mountain, which is operating on fast time.

The annual U. S. production of Swiss cheese amounts to 40,000,000 pounds.

There are about 5,000 golf courses in the United States now, compared with 200 in 1914.
